About APACPH conference

The APACPH Conference is an Annual International Conference initiated by the Asia-Pacific Academic Consortium for Public Health (APACPH) to accentuate public health concerns and share innovation and updated public health knowledge and related disciplines.

Since 2015, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) has been adopted throughout the world's continents. The SDGs balance three dimensions of sustainable development: economic, social and environmental in an integrated and inclusive manner to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all. All 17 goals and 169 targets focus on health and influencing factors to health. According to the World Health Statistics 2018: Monitoring Health for the SDGs, low and middle-income countries (LMIC) remain far behind the goals and targets

To celebrate its 72nd Anniversary, the Faculty of Public Health, Mahidol University collaborating with APACPH will honorably host the 51st APACPH Conference 2019 from November 21st - 22nd, 2019 at Amari Watergate Bangkok, Thailand. The theme of the conference is "SDGs in Reality" focusing on Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) at present and how to reach the goals in 2030.
